JAPAN'S REGULARS PLUNGE INTO ACTION ON SHANGHAI FRONT

10,000 Troops Advance Three Miles in Northern
Shanghai

SCORES ARE KILLED

Eleven Japanese Warships
Enter Tsingtao, Entrance to Tientsin

By International News Service

Japan's regular army reinforcements plunged into action on the Shanghai front for the first time today, opening the greatest land offensive of the war. Chinese advanced in a counter-attack. Developments:

1. Ten thousand Japanese troops advanced three miles in northern Shanghai, trying to cut the line held by 50,000 Chinese between Kiangwan and Woosung. Scores of Japanese were killed when an attack at Yantsepo Quarter was repelled. China retaliated with an assault on Chapei and heavy bombardment of Japan's position.

2. Japanese airplanes struck the Chapei quarter slightly, while machine shells hurled into Chinese Pootung. Nanking's arsenal was bombarded.

3. Eleven Japanese warships entered Tsingtao, entrance to Tientsin. Peiping was denuded of Japanese troops as reinforcements were rushed to Nankow Pass.

4. In reprisal of the scuttling of six ships worth $300,000,000, in Shanghai, Japanese bluejackets seized a Chinese wharf there.

5. American, British and other western powers continued peace efforts but the United States ordered wholesale evacuation. Japan turned down a British plan for demilitarization of Shanghai.

"Captains Courageous" To Be Attraction at Grand

One of the great sea stories of modern literature, Rudyard Kipling's thrilling saga of the Gloucester fishermen, comes to the Grand Theatre screen Thursday and Friday with "Captains Courageous," with Freddie Bartholomew, Spencer Tracy, Lionel Barrymore and Melvyn Douglas in the leading roles.

For the first time in his screen career Freddie Bartholomew plays a wholly American boy, a wide departure from any previous role. As Harvey Cheyne he is the pampered son of a millionaire who has never known the meaning of work and worthwhile effort. Bound for Europe on a supertanker he falls overboard off the Newfoundland banks and is picked up by a fishing dory manned by Spencer Tracy, the latter playing the part of Mammel, a Portuguese fisherman. This role, the most colorful that Tracy has yet had, rivals even that of the priest in "San Francisco."

The boy is taken to the fishing schooner "We're Here," captained by Lionel Barrymore as Capt. Disko. His tale of being a millionaire's son is attributed to the shock of having fallen overboard. He is put to work and gradually his regeneration begins. The hardy, honest Gloucester fisherman make a man of him.

Mickey Rooney, teamed with Freddie Bartholomew in "The Devil Is a Sissy," again appears with him in "Captains Courageous" as Dan the captain's son. The large supporting cast playing the schooner's crew includes Charley Grapewin, Jack Larue, John Carradine, Walter Kingsford, Donald Briggs and numerous others.

BOY SCOUTS ENJOY ROAST

A corn roast was held at the August meeting of Bristol Boy Scout Troop No. 7, at the home of Walter Pitzonka on Monday evening. Admission was one lemon, which was later used for lemonade. A special treat to the boys was the relating by Walter F. Leedom of his thrilling experiences on different hunting trips. Dr. J. J. Willaman, a member of the Troop Committee, gave a lecture on astronomy. A large attendance was present and a good time was enjoyed.

DIPLOMATIC PRESSURE TO END L'AFFAIRE ROOSEVELT

Battle of the Flowers Still Rages Between President's
Son and Mayor of Cannes

By Kenneth T. Downs

(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)
PARIS, Aug. 19—(INS)—All manner of high diplomatic pressure was brought to bear today to keep "L'Affaire Roosevelt" from becoming a "cause celebre," but in spite of the best efforts of the United States Embassy and the French Foreign Office, the battle of the flowers still raged between John Roosevelt and Mayor Pierre Nouveau of Cannes.

A detailed alibi, all boiling down to the statement that he never had seen the mayor in his life, was presented by the youngest son of President Roosevelt.

But in Cannes, Mayor Nouveau cocked one eye at the Foreign Office and looked down his nose with the other at a champagne-stained suit, and said yes, indeed, it was Mr. Roosevelt who popped him over the head with a bouquet while a pal doused him with ice-water.

Back of the sudden silence which was put on the "battle of the flowers" episode last night by the Foreign Office, it was understood, was the United States Embassy, headed by veteran diplomat William C. Bullitt.

DOYLESTOWN BEAUTY AT LEGION CONVENTION

Miss Alice Fox, of County
Seat, to Compete in State-
Wide Beauty Contest

OTHER COUNTY NEWS

Miss Alice Fox, of North Broad street, Doylestown's Miss American Legion, is at York to attend the State convention of the American Legion and take part in the state-wide beauty contest to be conducted there by the Legion, the winner of which will be crowned Miss Pennsylvania American Legion and will take part in the national beauty contest to be staged during the national convention in New York City in October.

Four hundred men, women and children enjoyed a grand afternoon and evening on Saturday at the first annual picnic staged by the Loyal Republican Club at Myers' Dam, near Pipersville.

There was not a dull moment from noon until 9 p. m., as a long program of games and various entertainment occupied the time of the picnic. Prizes were awarded to all the winners, but the highlight of the afternoon's sport program was the baseball game between Harris (Shorty) Holmes' Terriers and Joe McVann's Lions. The game was won by McVann's clan, the final score being 12 to 9.

Although the various Republican candidates were on hand and rubbed shoulders with their friends, political speeches were out of order as the day was set aside for picnic purposes only.

Forty-nine years ago, September, 1888, members of the Fretz family met for their first family reunion, near Bedminster, and now claim the honor of having been the originators of the family reunion idea in Eastern Pennsylvania. While the meetings were not held annually until in recent years, the attendance at the first gatherings, when people traveled with horse and wagon, was very large.

This year's reunion, as has been the custom recently, was held at the Deep Run New Mennonite Church on Saturday.

Manager Frank C. Orgill, of the Bucks County Producers' Cooperative Auction, attended a conference of business management problems of North-eastern poultry and egg co-operatives Monday and Tuesday at the New Jersey State Fair.

BEEBE EMPLOYEES PICK MORRISSEY AS A BANDIT

Suspect Brought from Chelsea,
Mass.; is Positively Identified

NOW BEING QUESTIONED

Identification has been established of John W. Morrissey, 33, Chelsea, Mass., who has been brought to Bristol by police, charged with participation in the taking of the $7,200 payroll of Lucius Beebe & Sons, Inc., last April 9th.

Morrissey has been positively identified by employees of the Beebe firm as being one of the trio who held up the office force four months ago.

Corporal William Herman, of the Doylestown sub-station of Pennsylvania Motor Police, and Chief of Police Linford J. Jones, of Bristol, returned to Bristol from Boston late Tuesday night with the prisoner, Morrissey had been arrested by Chelsea police and was being held to await the arrival of the authorities.

The prisoner told the local authorities that he would waive extradition, and came back to Bristol without offering any legal opposition. He is the last of the four alleged participants, and three accessories arrested in connection with the hold-up.

Morrissey was stood up at the municipal building here with three other men, and Beebe employees at once named him as one of the bandit trio.

Police are questioning Morrissey and obtaining from him his knowledge of the robbery. It is said that Morrissey is the one who scooped up the money off the office desks and rammed it into a brief case. In his haste he left $1,268 lying on another desk in the office.

Morrissey was being closely questioned today by Corporal Herman, Chief Jones and Bucks County Detective Anthony Russo. It was believed that the officers confronted Morrissey with the confessions of those already doing time, but the officers refused to reveal any statement made by the prisoner until such time as it has been duly signed and put into legal form.

The alleged confederates were Jerry Jennings, now under $50,000 bail in Chelsea, Mass., in connection with the shooting of a Boston police sergeant; George Hogarty, serving a nine to ten year State Prison sentence at Wethersfield, Conn., and Albert DeMers, serving a three to five year State Prison sentence for gun-toting at Nantasket, Mass.

Others arrested in connection with the Bristol hold-up have already been before the Bucks county court and sentenced to the Eastern State Penitentiary.

"HOMES ON WHEELS" BEING BUILT HERE PROVING POPULAR

Trailers of Fleetwheels-Coates
Likely to Dot United States
In the Near Future

TEN NOW BEING BUILT

Each Vehicle is A Distinctly
Different "Job," Say
Builders

Luxurious "homes on wheels," built in Bristol by a Bristol firm, will without doubt within the next few months be scattered throughout the 48 states, and in a longer period of time when production is further underway, be seen in many countries on the face of the globe.

Ten trailers are under construction at the present time at the plant of Fleetwheels-Coates Trailers, Radcliffe street. No two are alike. Each is a distinctly different "job," with some points in common, but with appointments, color of upholstery, various equipment, and exterior varying to the taste of the purchaser.

Firm in the belief that "really fine things do not lend themselves to large-scale production" craftsmen of Fleetwheels-Coates Company are erecting at the present 10 trailers, each with distinctive features.

These "private homes of the road" will take many a family into far-off places, providing rest and relaxation from the bustle of life; and at the same time turn the eyes toward new vistas. The owners will mingle with people from afar, and learn more of their own country and of foreign countries.

The trailers manufactured at the local plant measure from 20 to 26 feet in length, there being four standard models. But these standard models differ in color tones, and in various details of equipment. The models are listed as F-C-1 on up to F-C-4.

Although the usual number of beds provided in these trailers are three and four, the Fleetwheels-Coates Company is manufacturing models which have space for from two to six to sleep. And the prices—a range of from $1500 to $3600.

Choice of equipment, and purchasers may have all according to desire, includes: Electric fan, radio, "streamlined" lights, refrigerator, stove, sink, bathroom with shower, ventilating system.

The stoves are operated by either gasoline, kerosene or gas, with ample storage capacity; and the refrigerators are operated by gas or used with ice. These are porcelain lined. The tank for the running water has a capacity of 25 gallons. The radios may be operated on 110 or six volts. The former is the regular house current, and the latter is secured from the electric storage batteries in the trailers.

The gas stoves are equipped with thermostatic oven control, and many have four burners, an oven and broiler. The air is cooled by means of a "scoop" system in the ceiling, with the air being caught as the trailer moves along the highway, and being thus forced through a spun-glass filter. There are four of these in most of the cars.

Wardrobe closets, a profusion of smaller closets for kitchen utensils, dining-equipment, and miscellaneous items, are found throughout the trailers. In the "living-room" section of most of the trailers are to be found two or three chairs, and in some of the larger models there are four overstuffed chairs. In the latter style, three of the chairs are stationary, and one removable. The mattress-like upholstery on two of the chairs is rearranged at night for a bed, thus of the four chairs two single beds being provided.

WOMEN DRIVERS

When a woman drives a car it is neither wise nor courteous to discuss the way she does it. Long-standing friendships have been destroyed for less cause. Happy homes have been shaken to their matrimonial foundations by masculine remarks from the back seat of the family car.

Woman's ability at the wheel is a theme for some dispassionate and impersonal organization to discuss, not for argument between the sexes. Some public service may have been rendered, therefore, by the American Automobile Association in conducting a survey in forty-eight States on the comparative competence of masculine and feminine drivers. And the men won hands down.

In particular, men concentrate better at the wheel and park their cars with less hazard to fenders, fireplugs and innocent bystanders. Women, it is said, see better from the corner of the eye, which may not be altogether an advantage in managing an automobile. It is not considered conducive to good driving for a woman to see a hat shop or bargain sale from the corner of her eye while negotiating a traffic-troubled crossing or corner.

It should be added that any masculine reader who remarks "I told you so" does so entirely at his own risk.

A LOBBY DID IT!

In signing the Interior Department appropriation bill, with its un-budgeted $10,000,000 increase in the item for vocational education, President Roosevelt expressed his disapproval and his intention to spend only so much of this sum as might be spent usefully. He said that while this audacious program eventually will meet the expanded, no adequate preparation had been made for such a step. The demand for more money for the purpose, he added severely, "appears to have been stimulated by an active lobby," consisting of teachers and others personally interested.

This is not a large matter, as Federal money matters go. And yet it marks something of a landmark in the Presidential career of the present White House occupant. In his first term, the President was not always so sensitive to selfish lobbying at the expense of the budget; in fact, ever since his short-lived economy drive of 1933, the circumstance of a particular group ardently wanting a certain expenditure has been more likely to commend it to him than otherwise.

His castigation of the vocational teachers' lobby marks, possibly, a second-term turning toward the earlier Roosevelt. He is capable of hard-fisted economy, as the 1933 interlude well illustrated. Goodness knows he will need to be hardfisted if he makes good his promise to balance the budget this year.

When McNatt gets through in Manila, they may have to send Frank Murphy back to carry the Philippines.

Footsteps sounded on the deck, and he crumpled the letter, and shoved it into his pocket, and sat back on the bed.

Someone walked past the door and kept on. He returned to the desk, and pulled open the top drawer. Several stiff sheets of paper, folded and held together by an elastic band, covered a small, leather folder that contained newspaper clippings. He loosened the stiff papers, and noted that they had the appearance of a legal document.

Other footsteps along the deck were audible. Someone stopped outside the room door. He had just time to conceal the papers in an inside pocket of his coat and drop back on the bed, before a key grated in the lock, and the door opened.

Doylestown Beauty At Legion Convention

sey College of Agriculture, Rutgers University, New Brunswick, N. J. Raymond S. Taylor, president of the Bucks county egg auction, Newtown, spoke at the Tuesday afternoon session on "Getting the Information Out to the Members."

The first drowning in the Sellersville-Perkasie new Lake Lenape, that was filled with water about a week ago, occurred Saturday afternoon about 5 o'clock, when 8-year-old Grace Lois Paul, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Paul, of 32 East Grandview avenue, this place, lost her life.

Word has been received at Doylestown that William Stephany, of Lynbrook, Long Island, N. Y., father of Miss Edna Stephany, home economics representative of Bucks County, died suddenly on Friday. Miss Stephany, who was at State College when she learned of her father's death, left immediately for her home.

State Treasurer F. Clair Ross announced eight dismissals and eight appointments in his office on Saturday, including appointment of Thomas Regan, of Doylestown, to a clerkship at a salary of $1,800.

The second annual reunion of the descendants of Amos Beck, Sr., and Emmaline Ridge Beck was held at the home of Newton Beck, Mechanicsville.

After lunch a business meeting was held and the same officers were re-elected. The president, Amos Beck, Sr., appointed the following committees: purchasing, Newton Beck, chairman; Benjamin Beck; entertainment, Mrs. Newton Beck, chairman; Benjamin Beck, Gilbert Harnish and Mrs. Amos Beck, Jr.

The historian, Mrs. A. Lawrence Morris, reported one marriage, that of Walter Beck and Regina Bernadetta Brown. No births or deaths were reported.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Beck will entertain the reunion next year.

"Homes On Wheels" Being Built Here Proving Popular

Bridge tables are part of the equipment also. In some of the trailers a separate bed-room at the rear provides an additional bed.

One particular type, showing a miniature bathroom, is equipped with shower, bowl and toilet.

The entire trailer is built here, the chairs made, upholstered and covered. Equipment, such as the radios, refrigerators, stoves, etc., are purchased and installed here.

The greater number of the trailers will be lined with leatherette, unless the purchaser desires other materials. Leatherette is used on most of the bodies for exterior finishing also.

One particular type of trailer, chosen by those who are travelling for sightseeing purposes, is known as the "travel trailer." This has six windows along each side, where the travelers might sit in comfort in upholstered chairs, much the same as in railroad parlor cars, and enjoy the scenery.

The entire structure is of wood, bound together with steel for strength, the steel being placed where strength is most needed. All wood is cut at the local plant, pieces being cut to the correct curvature. From large pieces of lumber the long, slim pieces which form the curved frame-work are cut. Trim of the exterior is of stainless steel.

SUNDAY DINNER Suggestions

By ANN PAGE

BARTLETT pears are news this year. A really bumper crop of this delicious fruit means low prices and plenty of them to go round. Apples, too, are going to be plentiful and cheap.

Meats continue high with lamb still the best value, and poultry, with the exception of ducklings, is higher. Fish is a reasonably priced food. Eggs and cheese are relatively inexpensive and may be used for luncheon and dinner main dishes. Butter prices continue below last year's level.

Homegrown vegetables are plentiful and cheap. A generous use of vegetables will help a little meat go a long way.

The following menus call for seasonable, reasonably priced foods.

Low Cost Dinner
Cream of Corn Soup
Deviled Eggs
Sliced Tomatoes
Bread and Butter
Pears and Plums
Tea or Coffee

Medium Cost Dinner
Roast Shoulder of Lamb
Pan-roasted Potatoes
Lima Beans
Bread and Butter
Pear, Grape and Cream Cheese Salad
Tea or Coffee

Very Special Dinner
Tomato Juice
Baked Ham
Mashed Potatoes
Buttered Cauliflower
Rolls and Butter
Apple Turnovers with Frozen Whipped Cream
Coffee

Floor coverings in the trailers are of inlaid linoleum, Masonite or carpet. The "Sportsman," one particular model of trailer built here, comes equipped with a telephone installation for communicating with the driver of the tow-car. Copper screens are provided for all windows.

Fifteen to 20 men are employed on the project at present, the number of employees being gradually increased.

George C. Coates, who has had 40 years' experience in carriage and automobile building, was the head of the Coates firm in Florida, which firm merged with Fleetwings plant here, forming the Fleetwheels-Coates Trailer Division of Fleetwings, Inc. Mr. Coates has been building trailers since 1929. His son is also associated with him in the business.

Japan's Regulars Plunge Into Action On The Shanghai Front

which converted all northern Shanghai into a battlefield.

Japan's drive, while aviation and artillery on both sides kept up a deadly din in the west, was directed against the long, thin Chinese military lines linking Kiangwan and Woosung, along a seven-mile front.

For the first time in this conflict, regular army troops just transported from Japan were thrown into the heat of battle. Hitherto the brunt of the land struggle has been borne by marines and bluejackets.

Japanese reinforcements streamed ashore by hundreds from warships and transports anchored in the sweeping bend of the Whangpoo River, and other battalions moved out from military headquarters in Hangkew Park, to lunge into the semi-circular Kiangwan-Woosung line of Chinese.

Outnumbered by perhaps five to one, the Japanese relied on superior mechanical equipment and arms to whip back the German-trained armies of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek. Tanks spewing death clanked north and west.

ward, artillery poured tons of steel and lead into the Chinese lines, and machine guns incessantly rattled their staccato dirge.

"Japanese forces making progress" was the crisp announcement issued by Japanese military headquarters at 12:30 p. m.

Once-beautiful park areas and peaceful farm lands were blasted by shells and furrowed by trenches; roads were ripped up, houses were set afire, and the important railroad leading northward from Kiangwan towards Nanking, over which Chinese reinforcements have been pouring, was threatened.

With deaths running into hundreds, the smaller Japanese force for days had been slowly yielding ground in the Chapel, Hongkew, and Yangtespoo area of northern Shanghai. International authorities feared they would be driven straight back through the French Concession, but Chinese leaders gave assurances that there would be no fighting within international areas.

Another Japanese infantry threat came from the west, where a column was attempting a wide flanking movement to strike at the Chinese rear.

For miles along the Whangpoo Japanese warships shot shells into Chinese sections of the city, especially the Pootung quarter south of the stream, where 40,000 Chinese troops are harbored.

Shanghai's sky was filled again with bombing and battle airplanes, with the Japanese airmen again striving to cripple the city's essential services.

Every means of communication was attacked. Railroad lines and highways were bombed, and the Chenju wireless station, hit by bombs yesterday but still operating, was again raided.

A dozen high-explosive bombs were dropped around the electric works in the Chinese section of Chapel.

Another attack apparently had the American-directed Southern Baptist Mission as its objective.

In spite of the continued force of the bombardment and the danger as large-scale land fighting got under way, Americans and other foreigners, thousands of whom have already been evacuated, showed signs today of recovering from their first fright.

Especially with the arrival of more American and British troops, there was a growing disposition to remain here and see the struggle through. Many Americans, as a result, cancelled the sailing they had booked for Saturday aboard the Dollar Liner President Hoover.

HOLLYWOOD IS NAIVE PLACE DESPITE SOPHISTICATED FRONT

Film Stars Often Taken in by Fakers

By H. H. STINSON

HOLLYWOOD—Center of sophistication, tops in worldliness, acme of artificiality—and the most easily spoofed community on the face of the earth.

That's Hollywood. Latest to make film capital society believe that "things are what they ain't" is a gentleman known to Hollywood as John Montague, performer of legendary feats of prowess on the golf course and in the locker room. Intimate of such stars as Bing Crosby, Oliver Hardy, Richard Arlen and scores of other movie stars, Montague was recently revealed as really La Verne Moore, convicted of extortion in Syracuse, N. Y., in 1927 and wanted currently by New York state police for allegedly aiding in the robbery of a roadhouse in Jay, N. Y., in 1930.

However, Montague's jugglery of his identity has cost Hollywood nothing outside of a dismayed gasp when his past was disclosed, which is refreshingly different from filmdom's past experiences with hoaxers. Montague—or Moore—has been called by Grantland Rice the greatest golfer in the world. His par-shattering feats on the golf course have been a source of pride to other members of the exclusive film golf club where he played.

"Prince" Dupes Hollywood

Hollywood smiles, too, about its experiences with that champion of all impostors, "Prince Mike Romanoff", who conferred his royal title on himself when he became tired of being plain Harry Gerguson, son of a Cincinnati tailor. But it is a wry smile, for Prince Mike not only took Hollywood society to the cleaners once but came back a few years later and did it all over again.

His first visit was in 1927 when he was wine and dined by the very best film society as befitted a member of the former Russian royal family. When he departed, he left behind a record collection of unpaid hotel and store bills, unpaid club bills, rubber checks and a lot of film socialites who were sadder but apparently not any the wiser.

For by 1931 Prince Mike was back in filmdom again, successfully working his same old line. A priceless incident of his second visit was the way in which he appeased the wrath of the manager of a swank Hollywood restaurant, to whom he had given a worthless check for $50 four years before. In the grand manner he dashed off a second check to redeem the first and the second check, so far as anyone knows, is still bouncing. For variety this time Prince Mike also posed as Rockwell Kent, the artist, and in that role was entertained royally by the literary set of Hollywood.

View of Hollywood

"Prince Mike Romanoff"

Another Faker Exposed

He departed in the usual cloud of bad debts. In 1936 Prince Mike showed up in Hollywood again but this time he had no luck. After all, there has to be a limit to the credulity even of filmdom. Another who instructed Hollywood in the art of getting something for nothing was a personable young gentleman who signed his name on hotel registers as M. Jacques Voignier-Lanvin and who arrived with great fanfare as a member of the famous Lanvin family, Paris couturiers. He was on the verge of being signed up by a big studio as a fashion designer when a cable arrived from Mlle. Lanvin, declaring the young man had no connection with her or her shops. M. Jacques pooh-poohed this revelation, saying, "Mamma is just angry with me for leaving her and coming to this country." But he promptly disappeared by borrowing the car and chauffeur of Russell Patterson, nationally-known artist, for an "hour" and leaving car and driver stranded in San Francisco.

Behind the Scenes in HOLLYWOOD

By HARRISON CARROLL

Copyright, 1937, King Features Syndicate, Inc. HOLLYWOOD—Paula Stone's mistake in signing her marriage application as Pauline Stone gets funnier as you learn the details. Seems as it was Flance George Mason's idea, not Paula's. He suggested it might help throw the reporters off the track.

"But is it legal?" asked Paula. Mason assured her it was. Still puzzled, on the way back from Santa Barbara, she brought the question up again.

"Of course, it was legal," said Mason, "isn't that your real name?"

The surprised Paula then learned that her prospective bridegroom actually didn't know her first name. He'd thought all the time that Paula was a diminutive for Pauline.

In Agua Caliente the other day were Gypsy Rose Lee and Bob Mizzy. He's her No. 1 boy friend, and was trying to get her to elope to Mexico recently. Questioners will want to know whether he finally talked her into it.

Interesting to cold sufferers is an item from Warner's "Submarine D-I" troupe in San Diego. Symptoms of flu appearing in the company, a sailor suggested a navy remedy—putting the victims in a decompression chamber. This is the device used to accustom submarine crews to underwater air pressures. A few minutes, at a 20 pounds pressure, has been found beneficial to colds. George Brent, Pat O'Brien, Doris Weston and the whole troupe tried the remedy, claim it really worked.

It may be talk, but Isabel Jewell says she'll sail her 48-foot boat to Honolulu, possibly right after she finishes "Love on Toast". Star plans to carry four other people.

To forestall possible suits, studios have to be careful even of names used on shop windows in a movie set. The ones you'll see on the street in "Madame X" are those of members of the M. G. M. research department. Natalie Bucknall, head of the department, is represented by the "Bucknall Loan Co."

Answering Your Questions! Craig W. Los Angeles: Spencer Tracy didn't give up polo for yachting, but he is selling the boat and going back to his old favorite.

Joan Crawford has been ordered to stop embroidering on the set. It's been discovered that the fine work is a strain on her eyes and that the camera, using the new sensitive film, picks up the result.

Chatter. . . Louise Henry is wearing a ring and Hollywood hears it was put there by William John Warburton—not the actor but the New Yorker. . . A reconciliation has quietly been effected by Margot Grahame and Ray Haller, Hollywood night club proprietor. . . Virginia Carroll and Ralph Byrd (he plays Dick Tracy in the films) are expecting a baby in December. . . The Hays office won't let Paramount use stills of Irene Dunne in a tuff of soap-suds in "High, Wide and Handsome". . . They say that Kathleen Howard, fashion editor of Photoplay, will return to the stage and that Gwen Walters, formerly designer for Columbia, will succeed her on the magazine. . . Little Judy Garland has written lyrics and music for two songs, "Gone" and "Deep in My Heart". . . You should see the handbill that Harold Lloyd's friends are receiving. Picture of Harold Lloyd, John Sumner and Roy Brooks in turbans, with caption advertising their mind-reading act. . . And, best news of the day, Alice Faye's brother, Bill, is improving from his heart attack. He'll be out of bed in a few days.

BEEF CHOW ON TOAST

Here is a recipe that is appetizing and economical for campers:

Pick up enough dried beef to make two cups. Add this to four tablespoons of hot shortening, melted in the frying pan. Add one pint of tomato pulp, seasoned with one teaspoon of paprika and one-half teaspoon dry mustard.

Stir until very hot, then add two cups grated cheese and four or five well-beaten eggs. Stir vigorously, until mixture is as bulky as thick cream. Serve at once on hot toast. This also is delicious with roasted potatoes.

LANDRETH SEEDS WIN OVER ALLENTOWN NINE

Landreth's Seeds journeyed to Allentown last night and after a very hard fought and exciting game at the Fair Grounds took over the up-staters 5 to 4.

Bartello started his first game for the farmers and Allentown scored four runs in the first inning on three singles and a home run by Pash. But, soon then on he only allowed seven hits well scattered. Bizonsky started for the Fair Ground crowd and was knocked out of the box in the third. Dieho succeeded him and there was no further scoring.

Landreth's scored two runs in the first inning on a single by Lodge, a three base hit by Harwil and singles by Griggs and Barcallow. Landreth's scored again in the second on a two base hit by Bartello and a single by Dougherty, and came back with two more in the third on a triple by Barcallow and singles by Broderick, Deboskey and Dougherty. There were many sparkling plays, but Deboskey played a wonderful game at short. He made a fine running catch in left field and while on the ground passed the ball to Barrett who threw out a man on his way home. Again in the last inning while lying on his back, threw the ball to Barcallow at second for the final out. Dougherty made a marvelous stop and throw on a hit by Kohler in the second inning. Ed Liberatore did not make the trip. Barcallow played second base. While only having a few chances he made two hits. Other two-hitters were Dougherty, Harwil, Broderick and Bartello.

Landreth's Seeds play North Philadelphia at Landreth ball field tonight at 6.15. This team defeated the farmers a few weeks ago. Ladies are to be admitted free this evening.

RUMOR FACTORY WORKING OVERTIME IN BASEBALL

By Pat Robinson
(I. N. S. Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, Aug. 19—(INS)—The baseball rumor factory has been working overtime lately getting out the annual quota of new major league managers for 1938.

If we believe the rumors, only four managers—three in the American League and one in the National—are sure of their jobs for next year.

They would have you believe that only Bill McKeechne of the Boston Bees, Connie Mack of the Athletics, Joe McCarthy of the New York Yankees, and Jimmy Dykes of the Chicago White Sox are sure to be at the helm again in '38.

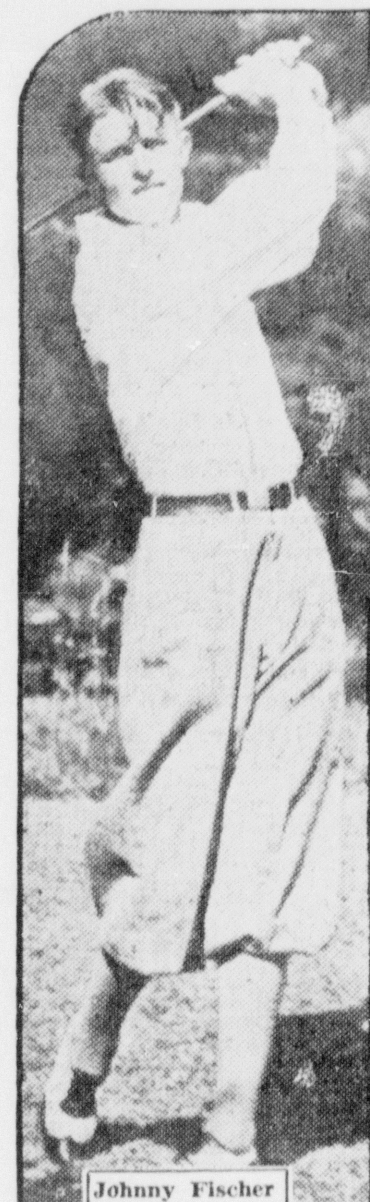

Of course, they will concede that Mickey Cochrane will again lead the Tigers if his health permits and that Bill Terry can stay with the Giants as long as he desires. They will even go so far as to give Joe Cronin another whirl with the Boston Red Sox, which is kind of the rumorists, considering that Joe has an iron-clad contract still in force.

Jim Bottomley has only recently taken hold of the Browns and he has been doing as well as anybody has a right to expect. Therefore, it would not be too much to suppose that the owners would give him a free hand for a new season.

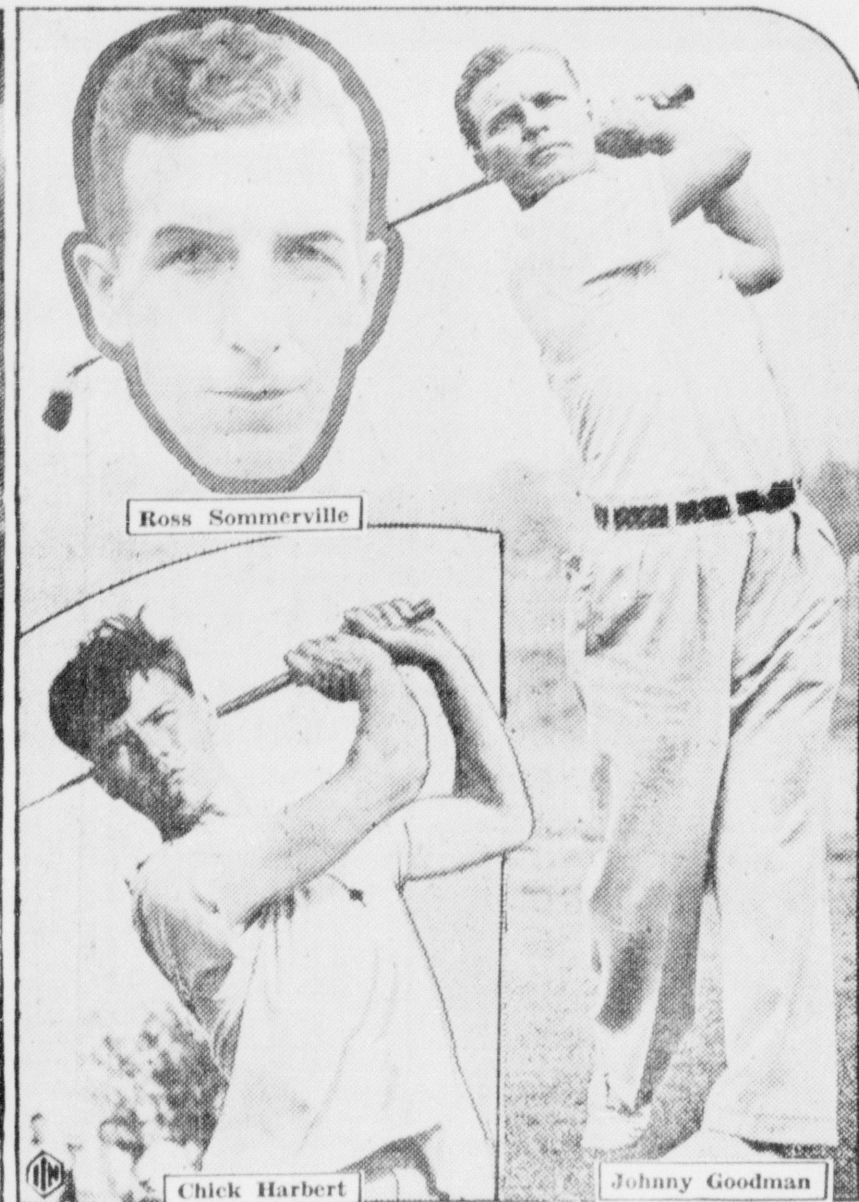

Bucky Harris has been reported out several times with the Senators but it is unlikely that Clark Griffith would drop one of the best pilots in either league simply because the team has failed to click as well as expected.

The wolves have been hot on Steve O'Neill's trail in Cleveland, and it may be that they will succeed in getting him.

NEW YORK—Although as usual the national amateur golf championship tournament will be a wide open affair, if one were forced to pick a favorite, it would be as safe to string along with Johnny Goodman, the Omaha flash, as any of the pack.

Goodman is playing sensational golf, now has the advantage of having had considerable tournament experience, and is determined to capture the amateur crown, a prize which has eluded him in the past, largely through tough breaks.

But if Goodman should attain his coveted goal, it will not be without a struggle. The competition this year is plenty tough, including such stars as Johnny Fischer of Cincinnati, who won at Garden City, L. I., last year; Chick Harbert, young Michigan sensation who burned up the course at Battle Creek in capturing the recent state open and recorded an almost unbelievable 268 for the 72-hole grind, and Chuck Kocis, another Michiganite and former University of Michigan golf captain.

Nor can one afford, in weighing the chances of the 170-odd linksmen who will be in there plugging when the tourney opens at the Alderwood club at Portland, Ore., Aug. 23, to overlook a select group of "old-timers" who might show all of the youngsters a trick or two.

Foreign Entries Few

Among the veterans who are very much in the picture are Ross Sommerville, Canadian star; Max Marston, Chick Evans, Francis Guimet, Jesse Guilford, all of whom have won the amateur before. In addition to these established headliners of golfdom there are such other distinguished entries as the following members of the 1936 Walker cup team: Charles Yates of Atlanta, Harry Cl...

and Scotty Campbell of Seattle, Walter Emery of Oklahoma City and Reynolds Smith of Dallas.

Although the Alderwood course is not the most difficult ever selected for the national amateur, it is exceedingly tricky and places a premium on the steady player and sure putter. The fairways are twisting and narrow, bounded by trees most of the distance, and so designed as to provide plenty of grief for the unfortunate who can't lay them on the line for the dear old cup.

In one respect the national amateur this year will be different from the 1936 edition, inasmuch as the international angle will be missing. Almost the entire British Walker cup team were entered last year—and one of their members, Jock McLean, Scottish star, went as far as the finals—but the invading foreign contingent will be small this year, largely on account of the west coast being chosen for...

JAILED FOR READING

WARREN, O.—(INS)—Because she read a detective story, a 29-year-old woman landed in jail here.

She got the idea of using a pen type tear gas gun in a holdup from a story in a detective magazine. She tried it out in an auto parts store, she told police, in an effort to get money to pay a doctor's bill.

The plan went wrong, however, when the clerk, although half-blinded by the gas, seized her and held her until police arrived.
